DR. LIN TSUNG-I FOUNDATION
Scholarship Application Rules for
Designated National University Scholarship in Japan

1. Dr. Lin Tsung-I Foundation (hereinafter the “Foundation”), in the desire to reward academic excellence and to cultivate outstanding young people in the country to complete their overseas studies, duly established the “Dr. Lin Tsung-I Foundation Designated National University Scholarship in Japan”.
2. This scholarship is intended for Taiwanese students who are currently studying at graduate schools of the Designated National University in Japan. Our first preference is to award doctoral students. The students need to complete their studies at Japanese universities and live on their own. If you have received scholarships or grants from public funds, exchange associations, Rotary clubs or other associations, please specify.
3. The Designated National Universities in Japan listed by the Foundation are the University of Tokyo, Osaka University, Tohoku University, Institute of Science Tokyo (a merger of Tokyo Institution of Technology and Tokyo Medical and Dental University), Kyoto University, Kyushu University, Hitotsubashi University, Nagoya University and University of Tsukuba.
4. The quota of this scholarship will be determined by the Foundation annually. Each recipient will be awarded NT$100,000 after the application is approved by the Foundation.
5. Applicants should submit the application with the appropriate documents listed below to the Foundation by registered mail before the application deadline and inform us by email at the same time: (Please provide your E-mail address for us to notify the result)

- A. Application form and autobiography (Please list your study experience in Taiwan and university in Japan in order.) In your autobiography, please tell us why you are in this particular field of research; how it will help humanity and the world. Please explain your research simply; in a way that an 8 year old child can understand it.
- B. A full transcript from a Japanese university, together with a list of published papers and materials.

- C. A copy of the applicant's ID card and a copy of the valid passport.
- D. A sealed recommendation letter from a Japanese university advisor. (Choose either Japanese, English or Chinese, please note the topic or research direction of the paper, and E-mail for contact purposes.)
- E. The second recommendation letter can be from a Taiwanese alumnus who graduated from a Japanese university (For referees, please include the year of graduation, degree and major, as well as contact address, telephone, fax and E-mail.), a recommendation letter from a teacher at a school in Taiwan, or a recommendation letter from an outstanding person in the applicant's professional field (including the academic or industrial sectors).

※ To ensure the fairness of the scholarship application process, the recommender must not be the applicant's spouse or a relative by blood or marriage within the third degree of kinship.

- 6. The Foundation will evaluate applicants based on the basis of their academic performance, research potential, financial support needed and recommendation letter.
- 7. Recipients of scholarship from the Foundation who have not yet completed their studies at Japanese universities are required to submit their published papers, progress and achievements to the Foundation before the end of December each year and upon graduation.
- 8. Overdue application will not be accepted. If the application is not approved by the Foundation, the original documents and attachments will not be returned.
- 9. Students who are awarded scholarships by the Foundation should attend the ceremony in person or by related persons (parents or siblings); otherwise, they will be deemed to have given up. (If it is affected by the epidemic, it will be notified by the Foundation.)
- 10. The Foundation's scholarship recipient shall provide a one-minute video message of appreciation before the designated date (approximately in March of the year following the award), and the recipient's family and friends are welcome to participate in the video message, which will be shown at the Foundation's board meeting.
  - A. The video must be recorded in straight screen with a resolution of at least 720px.
  - B. The video format must be MP4 and each video file must not exceed 25MB.
  - C. The appreciation video should not exceed 1 minute in length.
